

London Bridge Hotel

In order to expand the features and services of an existing hotel, this refurbishment was undertaken during the continuance of normal business without adversely affecting the guests or staff.

A redundant bar area was stripped back and reinstated to form a new bar unit complete with frameless glass lobby and kitchen and toilet facilities. The work comprised all mechanical and electrical installations, new joinery, wall finishes, decorations, coffered ceiling feature, fixed seating and the construction and installation of a dramatic polished pewter bar top. The project was successfully completed in seven weeks.
