

Brown's Restaurant • BULLRING

The project was to fit-out a developers' shell to form a new Brown's Restaurant on two floors. As the shell was located in a pedestrian area of The Bullring, we had to work within the confines of the developer's site with restrictive logistic problems of access throughout.

The works included the construction of a new frameless glass shopfront, a sweeping metal and oak staircase, all new ceilings and partitions, a feature bar with polished brass and pewter top and reclaimed back fitting. Finishes comprised all mechanical and electrical installations, mosaic floor tiles and oak parquet flooring.

The project was successfully completed in 10 weeks.
